76. Escape from Stalingrad

176pp

Artem lives in the sleepy city of Stalingrad, which has mostly been cut off from war with Nazi Germany, until now. That July, martial law is declared as the Nazis begin their unprecedented march toward the city. Artem's older brother is a soldier in Stalin's Red Army, and Artem is worried for his brother's safety once he and his family have evacuated the city. Then the announcement comes. Stalin has ordered that no civilians be allowed to leave Stalingrad. The city that bears his name is an important symbol, and the Red Army believes that the soldiers defending it will fight all the harder if their families' lives are at stake. Artem and his new friend Yuna are put to work shoring up the city's defences, digging trenches and building fortifications. Then, on August 23rd, the bombing begins. A massive German air raid reduces most of the city to rubble. With Stalingrad blockaded by both the Germans and their own government, escape from the coming battle seems all but impossible.

"From the author of Escape from Chernobyl comes another fast-paced historical thriller about a city caught between an enemy army and their own brutal government." - amazon.com.au

"A well-researched, swiftly moving snapshot of a particular and horrible moment in history." - goodreads.com

Escape From

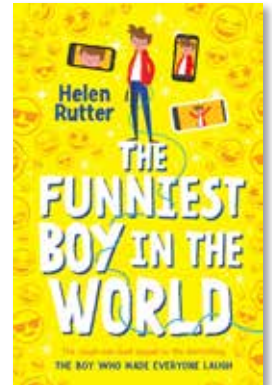

77. The Funniest Boy in the World

360pp

Billy Plimpton took to the stage and captivated the crowd at the triumphant ending to The Boy Who Made Everyone Laugh, and in the sequel, he's going to go viral. Celebrity comedian Leo Leggett takes Billy under his wing, as his new sidekick: when Leo tweets a clip of his stand-up act, Billy suddenly becomes the most famous boy in the country. At first, this is great, all the kids at school think he's cool and he gets to appear on his favourite morning TV show. But Leo's motives turn out to be shady and Billy must turn the tables in a very public way.

"Packed with brilliant jokes and one-liners to make kids roar with laughter a book to encourage empathy and kindness in young readers. Perfect for fans of Jacqueline Wilson, Lisa Thompson and Jenny Pearson." - goodreads.com

"Each chapter opens with a joke and the laughs keep on coming in this superb sequel to the award-winning The Boy who Made Everyone Laugh. Nestled between the chuckles are some really important issues, which are sensitively explored." - booktrust.org.uk

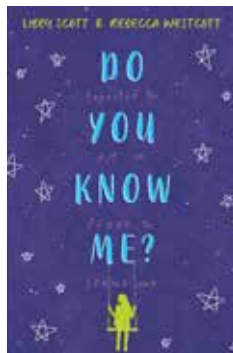

78. Do You Know Me?

320pp

Tally is autistic and proud. She used to feel like she had to hide her autism, but now Tally is determined to make sure people see who she really is. But now Tally has a new worry, her school trip. And that means new places, new people and new challenges. She quickly falls in with the popular girls and is grateful that they don't make a big deal about her autism, but it's not long before Tally realises that, while the girls are popular, they aren't very kind. With a jolt Tally understands that she's not the only one who's been made to feel like she has to hide her true self. But will she find the strength to stand up for herself and the people she knows are being treated unfairly, or will she stay quiet? And will Tally ever find her people?

In this sequel to Can You See Me?, Libby Scott and Rebecca Westcott return with another heartwarming and eye-opening story of friendship and middle school, inspired by Libby's own experiences of autism. Told through a mix of prose and diary entries, this authentic and relatable novel is about finding your people, and learning what it takes to be a true friend." - goodreads.com

79. You Should See Me in a Crown

336pp

Liz Lighty has always believed she's too black, too poor, too awkward to shine in her small, rich, prom-obsessed mid-western town. But it's okay, Liz has a plan that will get her out of Campbell, Indiana, forever: attend the uber-elite Pennington College, play in their world-famous orchestra, and become a doctor. But when the financial aid she was counting on unexpectedly falls through, Liz's plans come crashing down... until she's reminded of her school's scholarship for prom King and Queen. There's nothing Liz wants to do less than endure a gauntlet of social media trolls, catty competitors, and humiliating public events, but despite her devastating fear of the spotlight she's willing to do whatever it takes to get to Pennington.

"An adorable, beautiful, hilarious and heart-warming story." - goodreads.com

"This book made me laugh and tear up. It was a feel good story while also touching on some deep topics like racism, mental health awareness, poverty, self-identity, same-gender attracted, toxic friendships, and having family members with chronic disease." - amazon.com

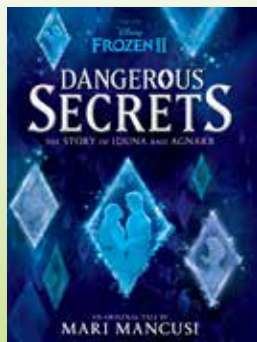

80. Dangerous Secrets: The Story of Iduna and Agnarr

352pp

Sixteen-year-old Iduna harbours a dark secret. On the surface, she is an Arendellian village girl, an aspiring inventor and the best friend of Prince Agnarr, but she is also secretly Northuldra. As Iduna and Agnarr grow ever closer, however, friendship is no longer enough. If only falling for each other didn't mean risking their futures. But for a chance at true love, the risk might be worth taking. Dangerous Secrets is an exciting and romantic prequel to both Frozen and Frozen II.

"A powerful, hard-hitting and stunningly beautiful read. This is a five-star glimpse into the King and Queen of Arendelle and a must-read for any fan of Frozen." - goodreads.com

Disney: Frozen II

81. Day of the Whale

304pp

On an island ruled by whales, one boy is searching for his missing father, another is refusing to forget the past and a girl is on the run. Together, they embark on an adventure of discovery that could anger the whales and crack their community apart.

"This is a gorgeous story about secrets and truth, about authority and corruption of power, about our relationships with nature and the wild and the people around us, about our responsibilities and our memories." - bookwormhole.co.uk

Duffy Day Out!

Duffy Coordinators!

This year's competition will look slightly different from previous year's competitions but we still wanted to celebrate the mahi that our Duffy Coordinators do!

We want to hear about your school's funding partner and what they do for your school. This could be a photo of your funding partner at the school with students, at a Duffy assembly or theatre show or some of your students writing a letter to say thanks.

If you're unsure who your funding partner is, send us an email duffy@booksinhomes.org.nz. If you're yet to be matched to a funding partner or Duffy Books is your funding partner, you can still enter this competition as we'd love to hear about the impact books are having on your students!

Send us your school's entry and you'll win your school

ONE of FIVE boxes
